Warm and inviting tagline about participating in this unique study!

What is this study about?

- Tell potential participants about the goals of the study in a succinct way, using clear language that would make sense to someone in the 8th grade.
 - No research jargon!

What would participants be asked to do?

- Tell potential participants about the research activities and how long each activity should take.
- Provide a clear estimate of the total time commitment that aligns with your ethics application.

Who can participate?

- Tell potential participants the eligibility criteria from your ethics application using person-centred language.
- Let them know if there is an honorarium (and how much).
