READY, SET, PLAN - FOR CARE PARTNER ABSENCE

We all need to plan ahead. There may be a time that someone else may suddenly need to help care for the person living with dementia, such as if we become sick.

If and when this happens, filling out the information below and keeping it updated with any changes will help. You are encouraged to share this plan with a family member, friend or neighbour you trust or at least to let them know of the existence of this plan and where it can be found. It is also a good idea to store this plan in a place where it can be found easily by you or the person who will be helping to provide care while you are unable to.

Routine is important for all of us, but it is especially helpful for a person living with dementia. Please describe what an average daily routine looks like to help others understand how the person with living dementia spends their time. Please include timeframes, including the time they normally wake up and go to sleep.

Details:

While you are away, bill payments or purchases may also need to be made (such as groceries). Please provide any information, including account information, that will be needed for this purpose.

Details:

Where possible, it may be helpful to also complete the All About Me booklet. By answering the questions in the booklet, there will be a record of what helps to make the person living with dementia content and at ease when the caregiver is not available to provide care. This booklet helps you to provide even more helpful information than what is asked for in this planning document.

The booklet can be found online at: https://alzheimer.ca/sites/default/files/files/national/core-lit-brochures/all-about-me_booklet.pdf
